

Sundays in May

The launch of Susan Haris' autobiography and two Poetry Evenings at Rudolf Steiner House

"The Enigmatic Suitcase" Poetry Evening 5.30pm Sunday 6th May Say we serendipitously stumble upon an old, almost overlooked, perhaps strange suitcase. What could it possibly hold? Everybody is invited to ponder the contents of the mysterious portmanteau and poets will recite in cosmopolitan languages at this evening of imagination.

"Stumbling Blocks into Stepping Stones" 4pm Sunday 20th May

Meet Susan Haris at the launch of her long-awaited autobiography. This is a story of a life of immense struggle and transformation recounted with disarming candour. Susan's work in early childhood development and with the disabled has been a rare source of support and service to parents and teachers alike.

"A Poetic Odyssey" 5.45pm Sunday 20th May

Linden McCall, Annika Andersdotter, Manfred Beck, Neil Anderson and Maureen Ten

(with Special Guests on board) ferry us on a wondrous journey. Octavio Paz, Seamus Heaney, DH Lawrence, Pablo Neruda and Rainer Maria Rilke are some of the poets we encounter.
